

Click here to vote now!

Making L.A. a Friendlier City

LA2050 Grants Challenge

Please help us win 100K in the LA2050 Grants Challenge to make L.A. a great place to connect. Anyone in the U.S. can vote and if we get the grant we'll spread this to cities everywhere.

You can just pass along the direct link for voting: <http://bit.ly/MakingLAFriendlier>

PS: We sent an invite to a gathering in L.A. If you are from L.A. and haven't gotten the invite send an email to suzanne@mightycompanions.org to add you to the L.A. list.

More for sharing on social media!

The link is for people who are used to sharing in social networking. Please ask people to vote for us. Our competitors all deal with social issues and challenges we face, and we have the only project that will add some joie de vie to all our lives!

Vote now through April 29th 5pm PST!

Hi! I'm a part of

Making L.A. a Friendlier City

A self-organizing movement
fostering friendly exchanges
the old-fashioned way,
person to person.

Suzanne is cheerleading for Making L.A. a Friendlier City - open to all U.S. votes

This is a demo of what you do as a participant in Making L.A. a Friendlier City

WEHOville interviewed Suzanne for

Suzanne Taylor: Making L.A. a Friendlier City, One Person at a Time

Thursday - April 25, 2019 by Joshua MacGuire | No Comments

Two small, white bichon frise dogs greet me as I enter Suzanne Taylor's rustic, Normandy-style home just outside West Hollywood in the Hollywood Hills. They're as friendly as she — apropos, since increasing friendliness is her main objective as of late. Her project, "Making L.A. a Friendlier City," (<http://bit.ly/MakingLAFriendlier>) is in the running for a $100,000 grant from LA2050, an org that endeavors to shape the future of Los Angeles.

Read more...

Much gratitude for all support you give to Making L.A. a Friendlier City.

Suzanne Taylor

www.SUESpeaks.org

