IF YOU RAN THE WORLD WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

What's so fundamental to accomplish that if we achieved it the world would be on a positive course? How can we shift our species from its materialistic way of thinking to where it's coming from a humanitarian worldview? We're eloquent about describing the problems we face but short on dealing with root causes and I'm inviting people who think deeply about what we can do to join in to dialogue about how we can get to a world where we care about each other as much as we care about ourselves. I'd especially like to hear what people would say to this prompt: "If I ran the world something(s) I would do...." We'll get ideas in play. In the interest of the world getting sweeter, where self-interest softens and mutuality becomes second nature, let's have a conversation as if our lives depended on it, which they may. Also, you can listen to thought-leaders talk about what they would do if they ran the world on my podcast.

World UNITY Week (June 19-26) is a meeting place to join thousands of change-makers, global organizations, amazing activists, thought-leaders, musicians, artists and people of the heart! Guests include Jane Goodall, Deepak Chopra, Paul Hawken, Marianne Williamson, Otto Sharma and lots lots more!
