

SUE Speaks recommends...

More than a decade ago I was a presenter at the first CONTACT IN THE DESERT conference, held in California's Joshua Tree desert to deal with the possibility that nonhuman intelligences are interacting with us. They've been held every year since, and each year attendance has grown. There is interest in the land!

The possibility of other intelligence in the universe was a keen interest of mine when the mystery surrounding crop circles got me making movies to inform the world about them. If that were ascertained it would make everyone think about the nature of life, why we are here, and other reflections we need to make to get a grip on caring about each other as much as we care about ourselves. And, it could humble us and be a counter to the arrogance we operate with in our dog-eat-dog unsustainable world.

CONTACT IN THE DESERT grew every year to where thousands were attending, and then Covid came along. You lucky psychonauts will have two weeks to attend every presentation from the comfort of home.

Here are a few presenters from this year's roster who are special to me to pick up on:

- I did a podcast with old friend, Russell Targ, whose interest in psi is legitimized by his being a physicist who helped develop the laser. Here's a talk he did, when I produced a TED event, which has over 6 million views and still is climbing.
- Lucy Pringle, who is in What on Earth?, my movie, is a foremost crop circle photographer and was the only researcher who was working with instruments, looking for quantifiable effects from being in the circles.
- Michael Tellingner, founder of the beautiful Ubuntu Liberation Movement, house-guested with me on his swing through L.A. a few years ago when he was presenting material dealing with ancient ruins in South Africa.

Happy to have all we can get to open our minds. Enjoy!
