SIGN UP FOR TWO GREAT EVENTS

I'm a member of the Scientific & Medical Network, an organization that includes Nobel Prize winners who talk to me and to each other in informal, free Zoom chats. Since COVID, they've been doing Zoom presentations, often by members, for which they charge a small fee and that are interactive for attendees.

There are two programs coming up this week, open to the public, that I urge you to enroll in.

Anne Baring, whom I've known for a long time, is one of the most outstanding thinkers in the world. She delivers an analysis of how, historically, we got to where we are that gives us insight into the precipice we are on.

Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. pacific time

I don't know the presenter, Jim Tucker, but I do know his work, which is mind-blowing. I guarantee, if you are unfamiliar with children remembering past lives, that it will affect your understanding of how the cosmos works.

The Scientific &
Medical Network
Exploring and expanding the frontiers of science, medicine and spirituality

Membership in SMN is inexpensive and these are only two of a roster of wonderful programs with presenters you won't find everywhere else. If you think along the same lines I do, when you get on their site you will feel a resonance and hopefully will join.

A leading international forum for people engaged in creating a new worldview for the 21st century...

More from SUE Speaks...

My podcast with SMN's program director, David Lorimer, another of the world's outstanding thinkers, who reads and reviews 200 books a year!!!

PS: This thought-provoking piece, about the Supreme Court situation, has nothing to do with anything else in this mailing, but it's a perspective about why Amy Coney Barrett shouldn't be confirmed that we aren't talking about.
